Armstrong noted that during the New York ticker-tape tribune he saw a sign telling the astronauts, "Through you we touched the moon." Then he said: "It was our privilege today to cross the country to touch America."

Guests at the elaborate state dinner, the first ever held outside Washington, included members of the Cabinet and the Supreme Court, 44 of 50 governors, representatives of the diplomatic corps and the aerospace business, aviation heroes, military leaders and friends and relatives of the astronauts.

The 2 1/2-hour, seven-course feast in a lavishly decorated ballroom of the Century Plaza Hotel broke up after a great roar of cheers and claps for the astronauts who spoke modestly of their accomplishments.

Earlier, they were cheered by an estimated 4 million in New York City and 2 million in Chicago.

Nixon hinted that the astronauts may travel overseas after their return today to Houston. "When they go abroad they will also get a welcome," the President grinned.

Outside, several thousand demonstrators peacefully against the war in Vietnam. Marching along the Avenue of the Stars in front of the half-moon shaped, 16-story, $32 million hotel they waved signs and chanted, "Stop the war" and, "Power to the people."

Nixon said toasting the tuxedo-clad astronauts was "the highest privilege I could have... Let's raise our glasses to America's astronauts."

As Vice President Spiro T. Agnew read citations, Nixon presented the trio with the Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian honor.

Said Armstrong: "I suspect that perhaps the most warm, genuine feeling that all of us could receive came through the cheers and shouts, and most of all, the smiles of our fellow Americans."

Aldrin took note of the faith he said Americans put in the Apollo flight and its meaning for the future.

"We flew Eagle and Columbia with your hands helping us on the controls and your spirit behind us," he told the guests and a national television audience, referring to the moon-lander Eagle and the main spacecraft Columbia. "When Neil and I saluted the flag, all Americans, I think, saluted it with us."

Carriers Are Against Post Office Change

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The president of the Arkansas Rural Letter Carriers Association says that if the Post Office Department becomes privately operated he believes rural mail delivery may be reduced.

Woodrow Williams of Hattieville said the state's 623 rural carriers favored postal reform "but not at the expense of degrading service."

"There is no reason why it should become a business enterprise, no more than any other department of government," Williams said in an interview at the 65th annual convention of the national carriers association.

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount has proposed making the department a service along the lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Williams said that under such a plan he believed rural routes now traveled daily would be reduced to three times a week.

Watt H. McBrayer, deputy assistant postmaster general, told the convention that the Blount corporation idea would save taxpayers up to $1 billion a year compared with costs of current operations.

Commissioner of Real Estate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The governor's office announced Wednesday the appointment of Robert P. Gelly of Van Buren to the state Real Estate Commission. He succeeds Delmer Safety of Fort Smith.

Both Sides Warned to Obey the Law

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Police Chief R. E. Brians of Little Rock told a group of pickets outside the Police and Courts Wednesday that addressing policemen as "pigs" was a misdemeanor.

Brians also warned policemen that the use of the terms "nigger" or "boy" when addressing Negroes would bring disciplinary action against them.

Brians distributed a mimeographed statement to about 20 Negro pickets in which he cited a 1909 law that prohibits the use of profane, violent, vulgar, abusive or insulting language toward or about any other person.

Violation is punishable by a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $200 or imprisonment in the county jail of not less than one nor more than six months.

Meanwhile, the City Manager Board issued a statement saying the abuses of personal and property rights in the name of dissent would not be tolerated.

The board directed police to arrest those who violate another's rights and said police would have the full support of the board.

the back end, of the morning train to the big city.

Practically everyone could draw a picture of the American flag.

Hot dogs in most places still cost a nickel, and were worth every penny of it.

Teen-agers subsisted largely on butter and sorghum sandwiches and had never heard of pizza pie parlors.

Girls began dating at 16 or 17 instead of 12.

Freedom began for a boy the day his parents let him quit wearing long black stockings and put on a pair of long pants. Mother wept and said, "I've lost my little boy." Father just cleared his throat and looked proud.

Foreign wars were expected to be over in four years or less. Those were the days! Remember?

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. CHUCK EDMONDSON

Miss Barbara Ann Hooker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Hooker of Blevins, Arkansas, became the bride of Chuck Edmondson, son of Rev. and Mrs. Joe Edmondson of Wynne, Arkansas, Friday evening, August 1. The nuptial vows were exchanged in the sanctuary of Central Baptist Church in Prescott, Arkansas.

The Rev. Joe Edmondson, father of the groom, performed the double-ring ceremony beneath a seven-point arch decorated with white doves and greenery tied with white satin bows centered with cymbidium orchids. The arch was flanked by four seven-point candleabras lighted by Miss Wanda Hooker, sister of the bride and Miss Vicki Edmondson, sister of the groom. The candleabras were decorated with green branches and white satin bows with long streamers tied in love knots and centered with white cymbidium orchids. A white prelude was centered in the sanctuary where the couple knelt for prayer. The pews were marked with white cymbidium orchids and Stephanotis tied with white satin bows.

The bride entered on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. For her wedding the bride wore a traditional white satin floor length gown fashioned with a round neckline and lace overlaid yoke with pointed sleeves of lace. The dress featured a chapel train of white satin appliqued with roses attached at the shoulders. Her finger-tip veil of imported silk illusion fell from a tiny crown of seed pearls. The brides bouquet of white feathered mums centered with an orchid was held atop a lace covered white Bible strown with seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom. She wore the traditional "something old, new, borrowed, and blue and a penny in her shoe."

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Debbie Lee of Neelyville, Missouri. Bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Hickman of Texarkana, Arkansas and Mrs. Gilbert May, sister of the bride also of Texarkana. They wore identical floor length sleeveless dresses of mint green brocade fashioned in a square neck princess style accented with an inserted bow at the bustline. Long white gloves and shoulder length veils of tulle attached to petaled daisy caps completed their ensemble. Attendants bouquets were yellow pom poms scattered with seed pearls which were fastened to a base with a single lighted white candle.

Mike Edmondson served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Dennis Carroll of Dallas, Texas and Gilbert May brother-in-law of the bride of Texarkana, Arkansas. Mr. Doyle Edmondson, the groom's uncle and Wayne Zumwalt, the bride's cousin served as ushers.

Little Miss Amelia Zumwalt attended her cousin as flower girl. Her dress a floor length mint green satin with a lace and velvet ribbon insert defining the empire waist worn identically to candle lighters. The head pieces were a small circle of tulle fastened to a circle of mint satin petals. She carried a lighted basket of yellow mums sprinkled with seed pearls.

Miss Nancy Ross played traditional wedding music on the piano and accompanied Miss Devona Leslie, cousin of the bride, as she sang "Whither Thou Goest", "Twelfth of Never" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hooker chose a blue silk shantung sheath with lace overlaid yoke and sleeves. Her hat was a cap of illusion net caught by a circle of blue petals to match her dress. At her shoulder she pinned a corsage of white pom poms scattered with seed pearls. White accessories completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Edmondson, mother of the groom, chose a rose double-knit dress made with a fitted bodied and softly flared skirt with matching hat of open mesh topped by a cluster of rosebuds. Her corsage was of pink pom poms. Accessories in a matching color completed her ensemble.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor. The brides table was laid with a floor length cloth of mint green with an overskirt of bouffant white net caught with mint green tulle roses, centered with white candles. The four tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Nancy Zumwalt and Miss Teresa McGraw, both cousins of the bride. Presiding at the groom's table were Mrs. Ausy Lee Ross and Mrs. W.R. Zumwalt, Aunt of the bride. Rice bags were distributed by Miss Mary Grace Leslie from a hostess cart decorated in the brides colors. Miss Diane Franks of Texarkana registered guests. For travel the bride select-

The couple will reside at Conway, Arkansas, where the groom will attend college.

Oldest Supplement Produces Last

NEW YORK (AP) — This week magazine, which calls itself the country's oldest nationally distributed Sunday newspaper supplement, may cease publication with its Nov. 2 issue due to falling circulation and advertising.

The management of the 34-year-old supplement recommended Wednesday in a letter to 42 distributing newspapers that the Nov. 2 issue be the last one.

Agreement from client newspapers is needed before the supplement can halt operation. A spokesman for the magazines said a definite decision is expected early next week.

"It is a pity that this week, so long such a distinguished member of the newspaper family, evidently has outlived its economic usefulness to newspapers and advertisers," said Fred H. Stapleton, president of United Newspapers Magazine

Corp., which owns this week. "Although we do not regret in any sense our determined effort to give it a reasonable run, we believe it would be foolhardy to continue publishing when all the vital signs are negative," Stapleton added in his letter to the editors.

Current circulation of one supplement is 9.9 million, a sharp drop from its 1963 high of 14.6 million. Moreover, 15 newspapers, representing an aggregate circulation of 4.3 million for the supplement, plan to cancel effective Dec. 31, 1969.

Jim Palmer
Hurls a No
Hit Game

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Jim Palmer's no-hitter was never in doubt. Not with Cesar Tovar a couple of hundred miles away.
Tovar, Minnesota's pesky handyman, has twice wrecked no-hit bids by Baltimore pitchers Dave McNally and Mike Cuellar with ninth inning hits this season, so Palmer smartly picked on the Oakland A's for his masterpiece. Tovar was with the Twins in New York and couldn't do any damage this time.
Palmer, 11-2, who has spent more of the last three seasons on disabled lists than he has on pitching mounds, suffered some control problems but held the upperhand throughout, beating the A's 8-0 for the first American League no-hitter in more than a year.
The 23-year-old right-hander, limited to only 120 innings pitched—most of them in the minors—over the last two seasons because of shoulder and back trouble, had just returned to active duty Saturday after another ½ weeks on the disabled list. But the only things disabled Wednesday night were Oakland's bats.
Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit blanked California 3-0, Minnesota clipped New York 5-2, Kansas City took Washington 7-3, Seattle dropped Cleveland 5-3, and Chicago defeated Boston 5-3.
In the National League, Pittsburgh rapped San Francisco 10-5; Cincinnati whipped Montreal 8-3 in 11 innings; Houston downed New York 8-2; Atlanta split a doubleheader with Philadelphia, winning 4-2 and then losing 7-0; St. Louis blanked Los Angeles 5-0, and the Chicago Cubs downed San Diego 4-2.
Palmer struck out eight and walked six—three of them in the ninth inning—when he had his shakiest moment of the game. But ex-batterymate Larry Haney bounced into a game-ending force out to clinch the no-hitter. It was the fourth major

Cards Blank
Dodgers, Go
Into Second

By HERSCHEL NISSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Something old and something new has been injected into the National League's division races.
The St. Louis Cardinals, veteran campaigners and pennant winners the past two years, moved into second place in the NL East Wednesday night as rookie Chuck Taylor blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-0.
And the Houston Astros, cellar-dwellers in last season's 10-team league and newcomers to the wonderful world of pennant races, leaped from fifth to third in the NL West by trouncing the New York Mets 8-2.
Elsewhere, Cincinnati overcame Montreal 8-3 in 11 innings, Atlanta took Philadelphia 4-2 before losing 7-0, the Chicago Cubs tripped San Diego 4-2 and Pittsburgh whopped San Francisco 10-5.
In the American League, Baltimore's Jim Palmer no-hit Oakland 8-0, Minnesota defeated the New York Yankees 5-2, Detroit downed California 3-0, the Chicago White Sox beat Boston 5-3, Kansas City turned back Washington 7-3 and Seattle topped Cleveland 5-3.
The Cardinals' triumph, coupled with New York's defeat, dropped the amazing Mets out of the runner-up spot for the first time since June 3. But St. Louis is finding it difficult to pick up ground on the highflying Cubs.
The Cards have won 28 of 36 games since they got hot on July 5, when they trailed the Cubs by 1½ games. But they've managed to pick up only 1½ games since the All-Star break, even though they've won 16 of 20 in that span, and still trail Chicago by 8½.
"The first half of the season we just couldn't get started," said Manager Red Schoendienst. "We couldn't do anything right. At exactly the halfway point it was like day and night. We started playing good ball, getting base hits and scoring with two out, which we weren't doing before."
Informed that he was the manager of a second-place team, Schoendienst replied: "It's not first place. There's a long way to go, but we have seven games left with the Cubs and we'll have to win them all."
Taylor, the pride of Bell Buckle, Tenn., has compiled a 5-1 mark since he came up from Tulsa on May 25. It was his first big league shutout—he hurled a six-hitter—and averaged his only loss—to the Dodgers earlier this month.
"Taylor helped us in the bullpen when he first came up," Schoendienst said of the 27-year-old right-hander. "We moved him as our fifth starter and he's been great."
Dal Maxvill drove in two runs for the Cards and Joe Torre, Curt Flood and Mike Shannon one each as the Dodgers dropped into a tie for fourth in the West with the Giants.
The only bad news for Houston is that the season series with the Mets is over. The Astros made it nine in a row over their big city cousins and took the series 10-2. They trail Cincinnati by three games and second-place Atlanta by one-half game, with the Dodgers and Giants another half-game behind the Astros.
"This team can win it all," insisted Curt Blefary, who knocked in three runs with a booming double, giving him nine RBIs for the three-game set and 20 during August. "I am swinging the bat now."
Dennis Menke's three-run homer in the first inning started Larry Dierker to his 14th victory and the Astros wrapped it up with five more in the third as they ran their winning streak to six games. Tommie Agee socked his 20th homer for the Mets.
Lowly Montreal was threatening to make it three in a row over the Reds until Pete Rose singled with one out in the ninth and Jim Stewart, subbing for Pvt. Bobby Tolan, tied the game 3-3 with his fourth home run of the season.
Then the Reds poured five runs across the plate in the 11th on a bases-loaded wild pitch by Dick Radatz and Johnny Bench's grand slam homer, No. 19, off Elroy Face. Rusty Staub and Ron Fairly hit solo homers for the Expos.
Hank Aaron slammed his 30th and 31st homers for the Braves in their opener, good for three runs, but Deron Johnson hit a solo homer, Larry Hise belted a three-run shot and Jerry Johnson fired a six-hitter for the Phillies in the nightcap, the first triumph in six games for new skipper George Myatt. Had Doubts
About Future
in Baseball

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — A year ago, Jim Palmer had some nagging doubts about his future in baseball.
Wednesday night, starting for only the second time after his latest Yo-Yo trip to the disabled list, the Baltimore right-hander didn't think he'd last nine innings.
But the 23-year-old hurler, who gets tremendous leverage from his long arms, held the Oakland Athletics in check with a blazing fast ball and hurled a no-hitter as the Orioles won 8-0.
The superb effort added lustre to the already remarkable comeback of a pitcher who in 1966 became the youngest ever to hurl a World Series shutout and then faded into obscurity with a series of back and shoulder ailments.
If he remains healthy, the articulate Palmer could parlay his talent and good looks into a profitable future.
Palmer didn't mention the no-hitter on the Baltimore bench, but while Baltimore batted in the eighth inning he gave the choke sign in front of his teammates. Then he almost choked in the ninth.
After walking slugger Reggie Jackson for the third time, Palmer retired Sal Bando on a liner to center field and Danny Cater hit into a force play.
With the crowd of 16,826 giving encouragement with rhythmic applause, Palmer jumped ahead of Dick Green on two swinging strikes before walking him. Then Tom Reynolds walked, loading the bases.
The count went to 1-2 on Larry Haney, a former Palmer batterymate, before he grounded sharply to shortstop Bobby Floyd for a game-ending force.
"A no-hitter is matter of luck," Palmer conceded. "The balls are hit at somebody. I had some good plays behind me, and we scored a lot of runs so I was able to coast."
Palmer said the choke sign—a hand wrapped around the neck—was a joke aimed at Oriole pitchers Dave McNally and Mike Cuellar—who were needed earlier this season after losing no-hit bids in the ninth inning, both on hits by Minnesota's Cesar Tovar.
"I felt a lot of pressure in the ninth," Palmer said. "I was being pretty careful. If I lost the no-hitter I didn't want it to be on a bad pitch."
Palmer helped his own cause with a single and double, driving in one run. He also walked to ignite a five-run seventh inning which was capped by Brooks Robinson's three-run homer off reliever George Lauzerique.
A pitching chart kept by the Orioles showed Palmer made 142 pitches. He threw 18 curves and only one change-up. All the rest were fast balls, which catcher Elie Hendricks said "were really hopping."
He struck out eight and issued three of his six walks in the ninth.
Palmer now has an 11-2 record with eight consecutive victories and an earned run average of 1.77.
The no-hitter was the first in the American League since Oakland's Jim "Catfish" Hunter hurled a perfect game against Minnesota on May 8, 1968.

Kuhn Becomes Commissioner of Baseball

By JACK HEWINS
Associated Press Sports Writer
SEATTLE (AP) — Bowie Kuhn, who is 6-foot-5 to begin with, stands today as the tallest figure in America's national pastime after his election as commissioner of baseball at the top salary ever paid a holder of the office.
"It was an election by acclamation," said Joe Cronin, president of the American League, as the announcement was made Wednesday following the summer meeting of baseball's two major leagues.
President Warren Giles of the National League said the contract would run seven years but refused to name the exact sum to be paid the tall, 250-pound, 43-year-old, slightly graying New York attorney who had been commissioner pro tem since February.
"Yes," said Giles, "it will be substantially more than the $100,000 a year of his pro-tem contract. It's more than I thought any commissioner ever would get."
The salary of William Eckert, whom Kuhn succeeded under a one-year pact, was $65,000.
"At last winter's meeting the owners had planned to give the next commissioner a four-year contract," said Cronin, "but now, with a man so capable and knowledgeable, they decided to make it seven years."
"We think he can be one of baseball's great men. We are looking for great progress."

Unitas, Colts on Trail of Vengeance

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
Johnny Unitas and the Baltimore Colts appear to be on a trail of vengeance against American Football League clubs as they gun for their third straight pre-season victory over the rival league.
The National Football League champions, who lost to the AFL New York Jets in the Super Bowl, have zipped to consecutive triumphs over San Diego and Oakland. The Houston Oilers are next Friday night in the Astro dome as the exhibition season rolls into its third week.
The loss to the Jets last January has probably given the Colts all the incentive they need against the AFL, but a healthy Unitas has also given Baltimore a lift.
Last week, Unitas, who missed most of last season with arm problems, connected on his first six passes and 12 of 19 for 147 yards and a touchdown in helping Baltimore to 17 points during the second quarter in the 34-30 victory over Oakland. That was the only action John saw.
In the Colts opener against San Diego, Unitas again played only the second quarter. But he hit on seven of eight passes and 86 yards, helping Baltimore to an easy 26-6 victory.
So in two games the masterful Unitas, playing less than 24 minutes, completed 19 of 27 passes for 233 yards and produced 27 points.
In the only other Friday night game, the AFL Buffalo Bills, with heralded Heisman Trophy winner O. J. Simpson possibly making his pro debut, face the Lions of the NFL in Detroit.
Buffalo 1-1, whipped Washington, NFL, last week 21-17 as quarterback Tom Flores tossed a winning TD pass to Haven Moses. The Lions, 0-1, lost to the Kansas City Chiefs, AFL, 38-13.
Over-all the NFL has taken six of nine games over the AFL so far with four other intraleague games coming up this weekend as all teams see action except the NFL Minnesota Vikings and Redskins.
Saturday in NFL games, Chicago plays Green Bay at Milwaukee, Cleveland is at Los Angeles and Pittsburgh plays St. Louis at Norfolk, Va. in AFL clashes, Oakland is at San Diego and Cincinnati plays Kansas City at Jackson, Miss.

Mouthy Track Team May Be in Trouble

By NOEL HUGHES
LONDON (AP) — Most members of the U.S. track and field team were flying home today, carrying a letter of protest to President Nixon after a European tour punctuated by dissension and some disappointment.
A party of 30 athletes including two world champions—hurdler Willie Davenport and 400-meters star Lee Evans—stayed behind for matches against Norway and Poland.
Many of the athletes complained that they were tired, mentally and physically, after two weeks of travel and competition.
Wednesday night the American men's team completed a 131-90 victory over Britain in a two-day meet at London's White City. In the women's match Britain nipped the Americans 67-66.
Earlier, as part of a Western Hemisphere squad, the Americans lost to Europe at Munich. At Augsburg, the U.S. men defeated West Germany but the American girls lost.
Trouble blew up in Germany, where the athletes complained of poor accommodations.
When they arrived in London they formed a committee which drew up the letter to Nixon, listing what the athletes consider are essential changes which should be made in American Amateur Athletic Union policy.
At one stage the athletes threatened to pull out of the Britain vs. U.S. match.
They cabled a copy of the letter to Nixon to the White House in advance.
Little official reaction came from AAU officials. Jesse Pardue, AAU president, merely said, "I don't know what the kids want, and I don't think they do either."
Unofficially, however, several AAU sources indicated that when the athletes return home some of them could be in trouble for their outspoken and rebellious behavior.
Meanwhile, the remaining athletes head for Oslo for the Aug. 20-21 confrontation with Norway. Then they travel to Warsaw, for the match against Poland Aug. 29-30.

Golfer in Quarterfinals

IRVING, Tex. (AP) — After winning two close matches in 107-degree heat Wednesday, Dorothy Germain of Blytheville, Ark., moves into the quarterfinals of the 69th U.S. Women's Amateur golf tournament today against Mrs. David Welts of Mount Vernon, Wash.
The tournament is being played over the rugged 6,100-yard Las Colinas Country Club in this Dallas suburb.
Miss Germain scored a 1 up victory over Mrs. W. B. Mahan of Corpus Christi in the first round and then turned back Mrs. Sam Furrer of Knoxville, Tenn., 1 up on the 19th hole.
Mrs. Furrer had ousted five-time champion JoAnne Gunderson Garner of Seekong, Mass., 2 and 1 in the opening round.

Wild Streak
Fatal to Travs Foe

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Travelers capitalized on a wild streak by three Dallas-Fort Worth pitchers for an 11-6 Texas League baseball victory Wednesday night.
The Travelers put 18 runners aboard in the first four innings and 10 were by wales. Three of the free passes came with the bases loaded forcing in three runs.
Arkansas got six runs in the second inning on four walks and three singles. The Travelers finished with 13 hits.
Tim Thompson came on in relief to get the victory, striking out five and walking none. The Spurs starter and loser was Jose Geigel who allowed Arkansas' first five runs.
Don Baylor socked a three temporarily gave Dallas-Fort Worth the lead, Baylor also hit a solo homer in the ninth inning.
In other games Wednesday night, Shreveport beat Amarillo 8-2, Memphis stopped El Paso 5-1 and Albuquerque defeated San Antonio 11-4.

AFL East: Buffalo Bills

Johnny Rauch
By MURRAY OLDERMAN, NEA Executive Editor

PROSPECTUS—On paper not a 1-12-1 team (like last year). Not a 12-1-1 team, either, even if this is beginning of O. J. Simpson era. Coaching sweep finds Johnny Rauch, ex-Oakland, organizing troops. He's got quite a bit to work with, but let depends on how some of old hands shape up after big injury incidence.

OFFENSE

PASSING—Not most encouraging thing to go into season hoping 34-year-old quarterback (Jack Kemp) can come back from bad knee, or 32-year-old vet (Tom Flores) from bad arm; or untied kid like Kay Stephenson can be backup. Rating—C.

RECEIVING—Haven Moses, Richard Trapp—last year's rookies—nailed down starting job. Healthy (finally) Bobby Crockett could push them; Monte Ledbetter has perennial promise. Developing Billy Masters at tight end freed Paul Costa for switch to tackle. Rating—B.

RUNNING—They went with rookies last year (Mini-Max Anderson, Gary McDermott, Ben Gregory). Could go with rookies again, since fabulous O. J. Simpson, truckhorse Bill Enyard seem better, on sheer physical talent, than anything else around. But young, no matter how bright, make mistakes. Rauch'll suffer with them. Rating—B-.

LINE—Some changes in wind. No one will out yet captain Billy Shaw at left guard if he's physically sound. But you get drift of feeling about line when Costa volunteers for move to tackle. Guys like Steve Barber, Al Bemiller have been around since '61; still lack size. Rating—C+.

DEFENSE

LINE—Age a plague here, too. Tom Day's just about had it as end; Tom Sestak's operating on shaky legs, no longer all-league terror. Solid guys are end Ron McDole, tackle Jim Dunaway, who can go with most anybody but could use couple of more agile playmates. Rookie Julian Munnemaker from little Tenn.-Martin a possible. Rating—B-.

LINEBACKING—Harry Jacobs, man in middle, might start creating, but Marty Schottenheimer's just about ready to take over. Mike Stratton all-league stuff on right side, Paul Guidry's corner at left corner, plus couple of good kids—e.g., Edgar Chandler—behind them. Rating—B.

SECONDARY—No real changes in prospect. On paper, corner backs Booker Edgerson, Butch Byrd, safeties George Saines, Tommy Janik (pushed by Frank Pitts) are class players. But they've got to play back to form of years Bills were riding herd on East. Rating—B-.

KICKING—Bruce Allard did acceptable job in field goal department; little short on kickoffs. Paul Maguire a consistent punter. Rating—B.

Prediction
Second in East. Can't possibly be hurting like year ago.

YOUTH BEAT

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

PARIS PANICS: Hubert De Givenchy calls the shot: "Women say to me, I don't know what to wear anymore. They go to cocktail parties and some of the ladies are in pants, others are in cocktail dresses, others are in long dresses. I'm trying to find a solution for this need." Paris is feeling the irrepressible squeeze of the influence of the young set. The "do-your-own-thing" philosophy has freaked out the former style leaders; trade papers and fashion trade magazines, are running in ever tightening circles trying to predict "directions" that will be both valid and represent profit to the hands that feed them advertising. Not a simple problem. No way, no way to solve it with a "do-as-we-say" approach. Young girls want to look young. Young legs (even with baby fat) will still keep skirts short. Young bosoms will carry the "see-through" message. Older versions radiate bad taste. The dilemma of the over-25 woman hinges upon an inclination to look young rather than chic. Designers such as De Givenchy are caught in a pocketbook squeeze. Their clients are rich and old. Their publicity comes from rich and old publications. The future is young and poor in everything but appeal.

SOFT GOODS CHAINS leading the way: Major chains, such as Sears and Penneys, traditionally merchandisers of basic soft goods, are now leading the way from a fashion and fabric standpoint. Because the chains must commit for goods almost one year in advance, they are major influences in determining the mills' fabric direction, as well as the manufacturers' styling direction. Department and specialty stores come in six months later and must buy, in many cases, almost identical merchandise from the same manufacturers and at higher prices. No wonder the chains are doing over 25 per cent of the men's shirt business and almost 35 per cent of the children's-wear business.

"CULTURAL BLACKMAIL:" More and more teens are ditch dating. Boys are "organizing" on an informal local basis. Girls like the idea too. The "do your thing" movement at its crest.

REMEMBER WHEN: Remember two years ago when virtually the entire fashion industry was promoting the "maxi and midi" skirts? Unfortunately, the consumer said "No!" Well, here we go again. All the news out of Paris and Rome is long, long, long—skirts, dresses, etc. The fashion press is predicting the year of the calf-length and the ankle-length dress—everything below the knee. Will it sell in 1970? Emphatically NO. Young America—now over 50 per cent of the population and the trend setters for today's fashions—will not buy. Look for hems to stay short for majority of dresses and skirts. Look for sizable markdowns on the "long look."

LSA AND ALCOHOLISM: Some reports credit LSD with being helpful in curing alcoholics. A study at the Veterans' Administration Hospital in Topeka, Kan., revealed that patients "on" sugar pills did as well as those given LSD.

GO TO SEA, YOUNG MAN: Slim chance in United States today. Maritime unions make "working papers" a nightmare of procedure. Federal law forbids issuance to anyone under 16. Some states (New York is one) ban anyone under 18. Complicated paper work and charges in excess of $100 for processing is really only the beginning of the problem. The gut of it is the union hiring hall. They might as well have a sign out, "Teens not welcome." Meanwhile, summer employment anyone? Employment for dropouts anyone?

Briefs About Moonmen and Activities

LOS ANGELES (AP) — No one is saying just how much the state dinner for the Apollo 11 astronauts cost, but the best estimates put the expense to taxpayers at upwards of $43,000.

An official of the Century Plaza Hotel, site of the affair Wednesday night, said a dinner similar to the seven-course meal probably would cost $30. That would come to $43,200 for the 1,440 guests, but would not include other costs such as renting the mammoth ballroom and the conference rooms used by those who made the arrangements.

The White House said the bulk of the bill would be paid by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, with the rest coming from the President's entertainment allowance.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Why did astronaut Michael Collins shave off his mustache?

"Take your pick," Collins quipped before the celebrity-studded state dinner Wednesday. "My wife didn't like it, my kids didn't like it, or it itched."

Collins, who piloted the orbiting command ship Columbia while Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., were on the moon, grew the mustache during the lunar odyssey and the quarantine period that ended Sunday.

He shaved it off Tuesday after spending time with his family.

NEW YORK (AP) — Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong, taking note of the ideal weather that greeted him and his Apollo 11 crewmates Wednesday, credited New Yorkers with being good sports.

"We understand that a number of you ascribe the poor weather, the rainy weather in the last several weeks, to our flight around the moon and I'd like to say that we appreciate from the looks of the weather today that you don't hold a grudge," Armstrong said in ceremonies at City Hall.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A foreign good-will tour by the Apollo 11 astronauts reportedly is under consideration by the Nixon administration.

Officials said Wednesday no decision had been made but such a trip appeared to be a possibility.

Carl Bartsch, a State Department spokesman, said the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has informed him "there are no firm plans at the present time" for such a trip.

The high school is Neil A. Armstrong High School.

CHICAGO (AP) — A group of children awaiting the arrival of the astronauts for ceremonies at the Civic Center Plaza Wednesday found a way to keep cool in the 90-degree weather.

They jumped, fully clothed into a shallow pool on the plaza and swam around while waiting.

NEW YORK (AP) — A special force of 500 sanitation men has scooped up 300 tons of ticker tape, confetti and shredded paper showered on the Apollo 11 astronauts during their ride from the Battery to City Hall.

The sanitation department predicted a "paper fallout" would continue in lower Manhattan for several days after the Wednesday parade, as winds stir up paper that settled on window ledges and building setbacks.

An estimate of the cost was not available.

Religious War in Ireland Continues

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer
LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — Northern Ireland's religious warfare increased in fury today as Catholics, Protestants and police battled in at least nine cities and towns.

The Catholic regime in the Irish Republic demanded that the British government call in a U.N. peace force to restore order to the Protestant-dominated northern counties which are part of the United Kingdom. London replied that Northern Ireland was no business of Dublin's or the United Nations'.

Downtown Londonderry, where the current violence began during a Protestant parade Tuesday, was in flames, ravaged by more than 4,000 Roman Catholics.

Firing was reported in three other centers including Belfast, the state capital, and six persons were hit by bullets.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson was reported preparing to break off his vacation to confer in London with Home Minister James Callaghan, British troops waited in the wings.

In Belfast, Prime Minister James Callaghan-Clark recalled the state parliament from summer recess, mobilized police reserves and hinted in a television broadcast he might call in British troops.

He warned that his Protestant government "will not shrink from any necessary measure, however firm or unpalatable."

Lynch charged the Belfast government had lost control and that its Protestant police force was no longer capable of acting impartially. He said Ireland could not "stand by" and see innocent people wounded, and he ordered his army to set up first aid stations on the border to help injured Catholics.

Chichester — Clark accused Lynch of a "clumsy and intolerable intrusion into our internal affairs." The British Foreign Office rejected Lynch's demands saying the crisis was an internal matter, and Northern Ireland will remain a part of the United Kingdom until the Ulster parliament decides otherwise.

With the dawn, grim-faced rioters manned the barricades in Londonderry after a night of gasoline bombs, tear gas, gunfire and rock throwing. The Londonderry Citizens Association—known as the Bogsideers after the embattled Catholic district of the town—issued a statement calling on "every able-bodied man in Ireland willing to take a stand against Unionist (Protestant) dictatorship to come to this city."

This was the situation at other points during the night:

Belfast—Shots were fired at the police and a grenade was thrown but failed to explode. A mob of 300 attacked a police station from behind blazing barricades of furniture and auto tires. Police said one youth was seriously wounded by a bullet in the neck, and another was hit in the hip.

Dungannon—Police fired warning shots after crowds set fire to a newspaper office, the courthouse, the labor bureau, a warehouse and eight buses. Three men and a girl were hospitalized with bullet wounds.

Coalsland—Several hundred people fought police with sticks and stones.

Armagh—Riot police charged with batons after mobs smashed and looted shops. Gasoline bombs exploded in City Hall, and 800 demonstrators formed a human barricade against traffic.

Dungiven—Police opened fire after 300 attacked the police station with firebombs.

Lurgan, Iniskillen, Newry—Pitched bottles with rocks and gasoline bombs raged as mobs roamed the streets.

In Dublin, a mob of 2,000 stoned the British Embassy after a rally in the heart of the city.

Paragould, Ark. (AP) — Roy Lofton, about 60, of Cardwell, Mo., drowned Wednesday when he fell from a boat in Big Slough Ditch seven miles east of here.

Authorities quoted two companions of Lofton as saying Lofton became ill while the three were working on a boat dock. They said as they began carrying him back to their vehicles, Lofton began to vomit.

By specific acts of Congress, the franking privilege has been granted to the widows of presidents.

HOPE NEWSPAPER HISTORY:
The 1929 consolidation joined the two principal newspaper lines dating back to within five years of Hope's incorporation in 1875.

1899—Star of Hope founded as a weekly by Claude McCorkle; converted to an evening daily by his son, Ed. McCorkle, publishing until the 1929 consolidation.

The opposition line:
1880—Hope News founded by Lowry Brothers.
1883—Sold to Withers & Johnson, name changed to Hope Telegraph.

1883—Later in same year resold to Claude McCorkle and renamed Hope Mercury.
1884—Sold to James H. Betts, who named it Hope Gazette, under which name it was published continuously until 1922, published by Betts, J.L. Tullis, and Col. W.W. Folsom the last-named dying in 1916.

1916—Purkins & Gates bought the weekly Gazette and made it a companion paper to their new daily, Arkansas Evening Herald—but both papers suspended in 1922.

1926—Plant was revived by Curtis Cannon as the weekly Hempstead County Review.
1927—Cannon sold plant to D.A. Gean, who established the morning Hope Daily Press.

1929—C. E. Palmer and A.H. Washburn consolidated The Star and the Press as Hope Star, with Palmer as president and Washburn secretary-treasurer.

1957—Following Mr. Palmer's death Mrs. Palmer became president.

1969—With Mrs. Palmer's retirement from Star Publishing Co. Washburn became 76 per cent owner and president—balance 24 per cent being held by Texarkana Newspapers, Inc.

but not nosebleeds.

Q—What effect could prolonged exposure to formaldehyde crystals have on a person's lungs? I have emphysema but I never smoked and do not live in an area of excessive air pollution.

A—Formaldehyde fumes irritate the mucous membranes of the eyes and respiratory tract. Direct contact irritates the skin. Where formaldehyde is used in a workshop, the concentration should be maintained at less than five parts per million by means of an enclosed hood over the work bench and adequate ventilation. It is conceivable that prolonged exposure might cause emphysema, but no such cases have been reported.

Q—My husband had coccidioidomycosis. Could this lead to heart trouble? He has had several heart attacks after bad coughing spells.

A—Some other source for his heart attacks should be sought.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Along with marbles and mumblety-peg, hitting fungoes has been a favorite boyhood pastime. The fungo, which is of unknown origin, describes a game where a boy tosses a baseball into the air and then hits it to players in the field. The World Almanac says. Although hitting fungoes is not considered good batting practice, it is great fun and a good way to give fielders practice catching fly balls and grounders.

Need Good Ventilation If Inhaling Freon Fumes

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—I have been working in a plant where the fumes from freon are constantly present because of inadequate ventilation. At night I feel exhausted and have a headache. Could these symptoms be caused by the fumes?

A—Although freon is harmless except in very high concentration, adequate ventilation is essential if the exposure is prolonged. The symptoms of freon poisoning include headache, fatigue and dizziness.

Q—Is there any danger from inhaling moth ball fumes?

A—Prolonged inhalation of a high concentration of the fumes of naphthalene moth balls may cause headache and nausea. In some overly sensitive persons, handling the crystals may cause skin irritation. These moth balls have generally been replaced by paradichlorobenzene crystals. These may

MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark. (AP) — American International Production began filming a movie about the Barker-Karpis gang a stretch of the White River 20 miles east of here.

The film, entitled "Bloody Mama," will star Shelley Winters, who is scheduled to arrive in Benton County Saturday.

One of the actors in the movie, Robert De Niro, suffered a gash on his hand Tuesday while trying to force down a window in an old car being used in a scene.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP Television-Radio Writer
 HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television cameras have been called X-ray machines capable of revealing the genuine and the phony. Through much of Wednesday they showed the healthy enthusiasm and pride of average Americans in the accomplishments of the Apollo 11 moon-landing pioneers.

The three networks, as usual pooling much of the camera work, followed the triumphant progress of the astronauts as they traveled from coast to coast.

The smiling, waving heroes were the stars of the show, but it was the affection and response of the crowds who greeted them that made for hours of stirring viewing.

Keeping the conversational ball rolling during motorcade travel and parades was the major challenge for the commentators. Once the crowds were described, the security precautions explained and the basic statistics explored, the job began to get tough.

CBS's Walter Cronkite shared his microphone with writer Jimmy Breslin during the New York parade and Breslin helped fill the time with a bright commentary on Manhattan landmarks—a sort of off-the-cuff guided tour. Frank McGee, NBC's anchorman, had an assist from a curator from a New York City museum with a store of off-beat historical footnotes which lightened the audio portion.

All networks, of course, recalled past ticker-tape receptions and occasionally inserted some old film clips.

Chicago, which seemed to have gone wild with enthusiasm, turned out in force and there was little need for filler. The screen was filled with cheering hordes, welcome signs, even balloons and flocks of pigeons.

The holiday spirit of the crowds came through the small screens with an impact that needed no description and was a more explicit statement of admiration than the well rounded sentiments expressed during the formal ceremonies.

Although there was no arm-chair tourism of Chicago, all networks showed the Picasso statue, Grant Park and some of the city's notable architecture.

An occasional closeup showed how genuinely moved were the three astronauts. By the end of the Chicago reception, they were beginning to show slight signs of fatigue from the long day—and still ahead was Los Angeles' welcome climaxed by a huge state dinner attended by President Nixon.

The networks pre-empted programs freely to provide full coverage, and all three networks did smooth, professional jobs of permitting the whole nation to share an unusual and moving event.

Ginger The Greens
 To ginger, says the dictionary is to make lively or to put spirit into. Use the spice of the Orient and add "ginger" to salad greens.

Hot Ginger Dressing
 2 tablespoons dark corn syrup
 2 tablespoons corn oil
 1 tablespoon corn starch
 1/2 teaspoon ginger
 1/2 teaspoon grated onion
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1 chicken bouillon cube
 1 cup water

Mix corn syrup, corn oil, corn starch, ginger, onion, pepper and bouillon cube in small saucepan. Gradually stir in water. Stirring constantly, bring to boil and boil 1 minute. Pour hot dressing over greens. To serve, toss immediately. Makes 1 1/2 cups dressing.

Suggested greens: Romaine, escarole, water cress, shredded cabbage, spinach.

Consumer Lady
Is Amazed at
Some Problems

By ROBERT SHAW
 Associated Press Writer
 LITTLE ROCK (AP) — As a motion and a housewife, Mrs. Clair Reese Gladden of Benton became acquainted with some of the problems of also being a consumer.

As the director of a new Consumer Education Council to inform the public about consumer problems, she says she has been amazed at the problems involved.

"The more you visit with consumers, the more you know the problem is there," she said in an interview.

Mrs. Gladden, 33, was appointed by Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell earlier this month to head the council, which will do consumer education in other states and arrange a speaker's bureau for persons to talk on the need for legislation to protect consumers against deceptive practices in advertising and sales. She doesn't officially take over the $5,000-a-year job until September, but Mrs. Gladden has been spending several hours a day in preparation.

She has discovered, she said, that there is a "terrific problem" in Arkansas, especially in connection with earn-at-home and door-to-door schemes. The elderly or impoverished are frequently victims of these schemes, she said. Mrs. Gladden said legitimate businessmen suffer because of these schemes, and there is nothing now that the consumer can do but hire an attorney and try to recoup his losses.

Mrs. Gladden, the council and a Consumer Protection Legislative Study Committee named by Purcell will study, draw and promote legislation to protect Arkansas consumers.

She said that hopefully the 1971 General Assembly would act on consumer protection legislation, although it could be earlier if Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller calls a special session and the council and the study committee are ready with their recommendations.

Purcell submitted consumer protection legislation to the 1969 legislature, but none of it came to a vote. The attorney general blamed misunderstanding of the proposals.

Mrs. Gladden said the laws of 33 other states that had consumer protection legislation on the books would be researched for ideas for new Arkansas provisions. She said that in addition the special problems of Arkansas localities would be studied to determine a remedy.

She said that if surrounding states adopted consumer protection laws and Arkansas didn't, this state could become a refuge for "sharp operators."

Mrs. Gladden, a native of Van Buren, is making her first real venture into public life. She is a 1955 graduate of Ouachita Baptist University with a degree in business administration and a minor in home economics. She has served as a clerk of the Arkansas House since 1967.

Her husband James is manager for data processing of the Reynolds Metals Corp. at Bauxite. The Gladdens have four children, an 11-year-old daughter, a 9-year-old son and 6-year-old twin daughters.

The United States paid $295 an acre for the Virgin Islands.

War Deaths Lowest in Two Years

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command reported today that 96 Americans were killed in action last week, the smallest weekly total in two years.

The low toll was evidence of the two-month lull in sustained ground fighting which ended early Tuesday when the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese launched rocket, mortar and ground attacks all across South Vietnam. Since midnight Monday an estimated 100 to 125 Americans have been killed and 600 wounded, and they will be included in the weekly casualty report to be issued Aug. 21.

The death toll last week was the lowest since the week that ended Aug. 12, 1967, when 82 Americans were killed in action. It was also the first time this year the U.S. battle death toll has dropped below 100. The previous 1969 low was in the week ending Dec. 29-Jan. 4, when 101 Americans were killed.

The South Vietnamese government reported 225 of its men killed in action last week, 51 less than the week before. But it was the 13th consecutive week that the government total exceeded that for the Americans.

While the total of American and South Vietnamese battle dead decreased, that of the enemy increased slightly. Allied headquarters said 2,214 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed, compared with a revised total of 2,168 the week before.

The casualty report raised to 37,694 the number of Americans killed in the Vietnam War since Jan. 1, 1961, while a total of 537,543 enemy are claimed slain by the allies during the same period.

The U.S. Command said 1,086 Americans were wounded in action last week, slightly less than the previous week's 1,110. This brought to 244,320 the number of Americans wounded since the beginning of 1961.

A total of 687 South Vietnamese troops were reported wounded last week compared with 545 the week before.

Sheriff's Fee for Traveling Is Challenged

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A lawsuit challenging the legality of mileage fees received by the sheriff's office has been filed in Circuit Court in Independence County.

The suit asks the court to order Sheriff Paul Kelly to repay $9,070 to the county general fund. The suit says the sheriff has received $27,211 since taking office in 1967 for driving more than 90,000 miles.

The suit says Kelly draws 15 cents per mile but that state law prohibits the collecting of more than 10 cents per mile.

Kelly said his attorneys had learned that in all seven counties touching Independence, the sheriffs receive 15 cents a mile.

Memory Is Man's Best Friend, It Doesn't Leave as Other Friends

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is man's best friend.

It doesn't die or leave him as other friends may, but remains his only companion and chief solace all his days. It enables him to drink at any time he wills from the sweet reviving fountain of the past.

Without memory, man is but an aimless vegetable existing in a cheerless night. The more memories he has, the more meaningful his life is.

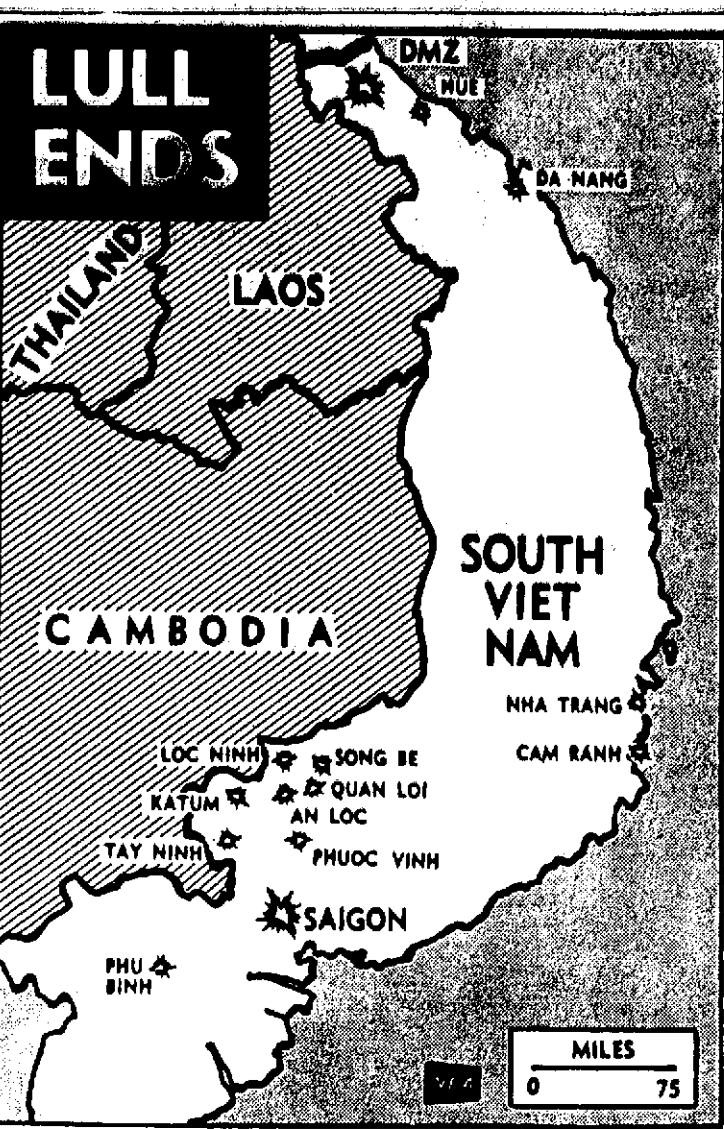

Your own store of memories is pretty extensive if you can look back and remember when:

There were more people who'd been up in balloons than airplanes.

Crucial Loopholes Are Left by House Move to Tax the Very Rich

Convention Would Oust Quorum Court

By GORDON BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House left some crucial loopholes in its provisions to plug tax loopholes for the very rich, according to a Treasury expert.

The trouble is in a section of the tax reform bill aimed at insuring that no wealthy taxpayer may completely escape federal income taxes.

The bill as drawn by the Ways and Means Committee and passed by the House last week plugged most of the escape hatches but left open a couple through which many of the wealthy could scurry, the Treasury experts said.

For years, Congress has granted certain tax exemptions in one area or another—such as mineral depletion allowances, charitable contributions, farm losses, interest from municipal and state bonds.

Most of these deductions have limitations, but wealthy individuals have been able to make investments in such a way as to bunch all these preferences and deductions to the point where they equalled their income—and thus pay no taxes.

So, the committee wrote into the bill a proviso to limit these preferences so that a taxpayer could not deduct more than half of his income—paying taxes on the remaining half.

However, the committee excluded two important tax preferences for the oil industry—the depletion allowance and certain excessive intangible may take taxpayer below the 50 per cent limit.

This is almost certain, the Treasury expert said, to mean that wealthy taxpayers will use the other preferences to wipe out half his taxable income and then apply the depletion allowance and drilling cost preferences to cancel out the other half.

Oil interests are sitting pretty, he said. Others most likely will try to get in on the act.

Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., said the exclusion came about through a misunderstanding in Ways and Means. He said he will try to remove it if the bill goes to conference committee after Senate action.

However, the bill is now in the hands of the Senate Finance Committee, which includes a number of senators friendly to oil.

Casualties Mount in Hard Fighting

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Enemy casualties climbed steadily today as hard fighting was reported for the third day north of Saigon and in the coastal lowlands of South Vietnam.

More action also was reported just below the demilitarized zone, and American B52 bombers made their heaviest raids there in more than three months.

Allied forces claimed more than 1,700 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed since the enemy attacked 150 bases and towns early Tuesday in what U.S. analysts consider the opening "high point" of the Communist command's fall offensive.

Informal sources estimated U.S. casualties at 100 to 125 killed and more than 600 wounded.

The Quan Loi-An Loc-Ninh triangle, north of Saigon and close to the Cambodian border, again was the scene of hard fighting as American forces pursued North Vietnamese units that made a heavy attack on the three towns early Tuesday.

U.S. forces said they killed 124 North Vietnamese in five battles Wednesday and today, while American casualties were three killed and 24 wounded.

Farther south along the border, a North Vietnamese force attacked about 400 South Vietnamese paratroopers just before midnight Wednesday. The paratroopers were blocking the southern approach to Tay Ninh City, the key provincial capital 55 miles northwest of Saigon.

The battle raged until dawn today, and afterward South Vietnamese headquarters said 73 enemy dead were counted, including a deputy battalion commander and two company commanders. The paratroopers reported 14 of their men killed and 43 wounded.

U.S. headquarters also reported 40 enemy mortar and rocket attacks from 8 a.m. Wednesday until 8 a.m. today, but said only eight caused casualties or damage.

"U.S. casualties were 12 wounded with no fatalities," a communique said.

Among the Americans killed Wednesday was a Marine battalion commander, Lt. Col. John A. Dowd, 37, of Woodbridge, Va., who was cut down by machine-gun fire as he led his men in an attack on a treeline held by North Vietnamese troops.

The Soviet press and radio in Moscow also confined itself to repeating previous communiques which gave no details of the clash nor any count of the casualties.

The Soviet announcement said only that several persons were killed or wounded but did not disclose on which side or how many.

Each side traded sharp protest notes, with Peking warning of "serious consequences" if there are further provocations and Moscow promising "a decisive rebuff" to any Chinese action.

The U.S. State Department stressed the United States will avoid taking sides in the dispute and will continue efforts to improve relations with both sides.

Damage Suit at Helena for $250,000

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A $250,000 damage suit against the Helena Hospital has been filed in U.S. District Court in Little Rock.

The suit was filed by Fred A. Murry, who alleges that the hospital turned his wife away while she was in labor a year ago. Murry, a Negro, said his wife and her newborn infant died after childbirth.

Murry said in the suit that he took his wife, Mamie, to the hospital Aug. 5, 1968. He said she was admitted but that moments later the night head nurse told him, "Get her on away from here and get a midwife."

The suit, prepared by Pine Bluff attorney George Howard Jr., was filed on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Murry.

The defendants are the Helena Hospital Association; the association's board of directors; Carlos Smith, the hospital administrator; the night head nurse (whose name Murry did not know) and the St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co., liability insurance carrier for the hospital.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Nixon has toasted the Apollo 11 lunar explorers as "three brave men" who penetrated the shadows of space and carried humanity to new heights of imagination.

Holding aloft a glass of champagne at an extraordinary state dinner Wednesday night, he told Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins, "We thank you for your courage. We thank you for raising our sights . . . The sky is no longer the limit."

The boyish-looking Armstrong—mission commander and first man on the moon—responded in a sometimes quavering voice before 1,440 of the nation's elite: "We were very privileged to leave on the moon a plaque endorsed by you Mr. President, saying it was all for mankind."

The glittering banquet was capped by presentation of special medals to the pioneering trio ad, posthumously, to three astronauts fatally burned in a spacecraft fire in 1967.

The affair climaxed a triumphant day of tours through New York and Chicago, a day devoted to an outpouring of American

Urges End to Crude Oil Import Quotas

By WILLIAM BARTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite strong pressure from the oil industry, the government's antitrust chief has recommended the elimination of importation quotas on foreign crude oil.

In doing so, Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard W. McLaren placed the Justice Department on record against two other Cabinet-level agencies on a subject that a Senate subcommittee has said could mean $4 billion in annual savings to consumers.

McLaren told a Cabinet task force on oil import controls Wednesday that the present system of quotas is anticompetitive, unfair to consumers and unnecessary to the economy and national security.

He suggested that if any import restraints are necessary a low protective tariff would be preferable.

Even so, McLaren made it clear that he prefers a system whereby the domestic oil market is governed solely by competitive considerations, including the entrance of foreign products.

He also denounced longstanding industry arguments that quotas are needed to preserve the nation's reserves and to prevent foreign companies from controlling the country's oil supplies.

Instead of reducing U.S. reserves, McLaren declared, an unrestricted importation policy would allow the nation to draw from foreign sources while preserving its domestic supplies.

"Indeed, by limiting imports, it may even be self-defeating by encouraging faster use of our domestic oil," he said.

The mandatory oil import program was imposed by the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1959 on grounds "it was needed to prevent the United States from becoming dependent on Middle East oil."

McLaren disputed this contention, however.

He also criticized policies under which the United States also bears the burden of maintaining an emergency supply for its allies.

"It seems inappropriate," McLaren said, "that the entire cost of allied security needs for oil should fall on the American consumer and taxpayer."

The Justice Department thus opposed positions taken by the Interior and Commerce departments.

In the case of Interior, McLaren said its policies are drawn by the Foreign Petroleum Supply Committee.

"This, an industry committee composed largely of companies engaged in the business of supplying petroleum products to those foreign countries, does not appear to provide wholly objective consideration of national interest and foreign policy matters," he said.

Calling for changes in the present system, McLaren declared that the present controls impose "serious costs on the economy."

Damage Suit Has Been Set in Grain Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Owen Harris has set Jan. 19 as the date of a trial to determine who is liable for damages to a Corning grain elevator and drier in March 1966.

The damages occurred when a boxcar of artillery shells exploded on a Missouri Pacific Lines train.

No one was seriously hurt in the explosion around 2:45 a.m. The owners of the grain facilities had sued originally for $2.5 million but have agreed that their damages totaled $570,145.

The federal court jury must decide whether MoPac, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad of the U.S. government must pay it.

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad had transported the boxcar of shells to St. Louis where it was switched to a 145-car MoPac train for the remainder of the trip to the Red River Army Depot at Texarkana.

Astronauts Lauded as Brave Men

By BILL STALL
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Before a star-spangled array of 1,440 guests at a glittering state dinner, President Nixon lauded the Apollo 11 moon voyagers as "three very brave men."

Then, as the three astronauts stood erect in tuxedos with the President at their side, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew presented each with the Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian honor.

Agnew said Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin and Michael Collins "participated directly in a unique and profoundly important adventure... their contributions on this great undertaking will be remembered as long as men wonder and dream and search for truth on this planet among the stars."

The largest-of-its-kind dinner in a gaily-decked ballroom of the Century Plaza hotel climaxed a day of coast to coast tributes to the returned heroes.

Said Collins: "Here stands one proud American. Proud to be a member of the Apollo team. Proud to be a citizen of the United States of America which nearly a decade ago said it would try to land men on the moon and then did so. Proud to be a inhabitant of this most magnificent planet."

Said Aldrin: "The honor... goes not just to us as a crew but to countless thousands of others... of government and industry people who have strived over eight long years on Apollo."

Said Armstrong: "All mankind took a trip. Perhaps in the third millenia a wayward stranger will read that plaque at Tranquility Base and let history mark this was the age that became a fact."

Earlier, the President honored the three astronauts killed in a spacecraft fire Jan. 27, 1967 — "a day of sadness and of shock, a day we wish to remember. We have the privilege some times of standing on the shoulders of giants who have gone before."

He awarded special medals for "courage and dedication to duty" to Virgil I. Grissom, Edward H. White and Roger B. Chaffee, Betty Grissom and Pat White — "gallant women, women of courage" — were on hand to receive the medals.

The vast crowd applauded and cheered as Nixon, in a toast, told the astronauts: "We thank you for your courage, we thank you for raising our sights, the sights of men and women throughout the world, to a new dimension. The sky is no longer the limit."

Tuesday KXAR Radio distributed about fifty Hope Melons in Little Rock. They went to Arkansas Radio Network officers and staff, to advertising agencies, the Farm Bureau, Arkansas Poultry Federation and some went to the Capitol. Governor Rockefeller and Sec. of State Kelly Bryant each received large Hope Melons. KXAR General Manager Haskell Jones and Hempstead County champion grower Lester Kent are shown making the presentation to Hope's Kelly Bryant, Arkansas Secretary of State.

All Meat to Be Judged by New Rules

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today published consumer-protection regulations by which ultimately all meat processed commercially in the United States must be judged.

Under the Wholesome Meat Act of 1967 the states have until next Dec. 15, or a year later under some circumstances, to set up inspection programs at least equal to federal standards.

The 452-page manuscript issued today by the Agriculture Department sets forth detailed proposals for carrying out the act.

"It's big medicine in terms of additional controls to determine more effective consumer protection," Dr. Hyman M. Steinmetz, Consumer and Marketing Service official, said in an interview.

The far-ranging proposals include mostly existing federal specifications on meat inspection and packing house operations, but these and some new features would have full impact when the states begin operating their own programs.

All meat sold in interstate commerce—about 85 per cent consumed in the country—now is federally inspected. But the department estimates there are about 15,000 meat plants doing business entirely within states lines and not subject to federal inspection.

The Wholesome Meat Act and today's new regulations stemmed from a campaign two years ago by critics of current meat inspection practices, including consumer advocate Ralph Nader.

"Bad meat is, and has been a long time good business," Nader told a Senate agriculture subcommittee. "This traffic is drawn heavily to intrastate markets because of the nonexistence, laxity or complicity of government regulation."

Steinmetz said one of the major provisions in today's proposals permits federal authorities to detain suspected meat in interstate commerce wherever it is found. States would have the same authority over intrastate operations.

plants. Now we have the authority to detain and seize meat outside the plants."

Another important provision, Steinmetz said, involves stricter control over rendering works and similar plants which deal in dead livestock used for inedible products.

Madame la Presidente: Swinger With Discretion

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Paris Correspondent

PARIS—(NEA)—For the next seven years, Madame Claude Pompidou, France's First Lady, must be prepared to have 60 million pairs of eyes focused on her.

She and her husband symbolize the new era, the transition from the austere, heroic, almost legendary Gaullism of their illustrious predecessor to a more liberal, accessible human form.

Claude Pompidou had to some extent managed to escape the public eye during the years her husband served as prime minister. Now the die is cast and it will be difficult for her to avoid the protocol shadowing her movements.

It is more than probable that the Elysee (France's White House)—as impersonal, conventional and official as the Louvre—will acquire a spirit of informality with the advent of the first "swinging" Madame la Presidente. For years the towering figure of General de Gaulle not only blurred the outlines of his ministers but put his unassuming wife Yvonne far in the background.

Anyway, she was very removed emotionally from the world of miniskirts and swinging society. Not for Madame de Gaulle the gaiety of first nights and bright parties but instead the formal ritual performances at the Opera with visiting royalty and the rigorous protocol of lunches and banquets at the Elysee.

While the Pompidous have never gone in for the wildest form of Paris night life, they still like to indulge in a night out on the town. But they both have survived unscratched from a whispering campaign which linked them in the social circle of movie idol Alain Delon when his bodyguard, Stefan Markovic, was murdered.

Claude Pompidou will most certainly bring to their official residence a relaxed atmosphere. But being a Frenchwoman to the core, she will know instinctively just what the French people expect of a modern First Lady—a certain measure of discretion and not too far out, fashion-wise.

Claude Pompidou and her sister, daughters of a small town doctor, lost their mother when they were both in the nursery. Born in the province of Anjou, known for its blue skies, soft-spoken people, good cooking and wine, the two girls were brought up by a housekeeper who taught them the almost forgotten housewifely arts, especially cooking and sewing.

"Plain cooking, succulent dishes like mutton stew, that is what we as a family appreciate," Claude declared one day. The Pompidous' country house, an hour's ride out of Paris, is the meeting place of the clan.

"Weekends we are often 15 at the table," she remarked, "all family."

Claude Pompidou also happens to be the first Madame la Presidente to be fashion-conscious. A few months ago she attended an official gala at the state Opera in a Chanel Bermuda evening suit. She loves trouser suits and all the fashionable gadgets, figure-hugging swimsuits and short skirts. Tall and slender, with a shock of curly blond hair, she looks particularly good in tailored clothes. Her favorite design houses are Yves Saint Laurent, Cardin, Dior, Laroche. But she is also a faithful Chanel client.

"A lot had been said about my 'above-the-knees' hems, my Bermuda ensembles. After all, I dress like a woman of my times. I do know that from now on I must consider my new activities and responsibilities. I may adore independence, but I am quite capable of respecting certain obligations," she confided.

She and her husband are interested in new ideas, new people, especially artists, writers and poets. There is nothing of the social snob in either. They are completely unimpressed by titles or position. Madame Pompidou frankly admits she knows nothing about politics.

The Pompidous shortly expect to be grandparents. Their son Paul, 27, who is completing his medical studies, married last year just before the mini-revolution.

The Pompidous come from middle-class stock and do not attempt to conceal it. Claude Pompidou is inclined to be somewhat outspoken but is usually very gay and has a ready laugh.

"I adore knowing everything about people, but the social set bores me very quickly and I am only really happy with our real friends, those who stood by my husband during the difficult days of May, 1968," she declared recently.

Reading is her favorite pastime but she also devotes much time to a medical research outfit and an organization that cares for handicapped children.

Friends and acquaintances who until recently called him Georges and theed and thou-d him are wondering how they should address the president of the Republic? Who will be admitted to the inner circle? New fads and snobisms eventually will stem from the Elysee.

Will the new president remain faithful to the old Georges Pompidou? And who among her woman friends will feel free to call on Madame la Presidente at the Elysee?

SHOWBEAT

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(N E A)—"The most advanced operating room in the country is right here—on Stage 14 at Universal Studio."

It is, apparently, the truth that biotechnologist Byron Bloch speaks. He helped design and equip the operating room they are using for the doctor third of NBC's new series, The Bold Ones. And it is, he says, the ultimate in well-equipped operating rooms.

The Bold Ones is three rotating stories in the same hour on NBC. One is a lawyer story, one a law enforcement story and one a medical story. There is no connection between the three—so far—but, theoretically, they all involve men who are bold and daring.

I dropped into the three sets, to see what bold and daring things were going on. The law enforcement team had Leslie Nielsen working on the case of a convicted murderer (Robert Drivas) trying to get a new trial. The lawyer show was shooting a scene in which Burl Ives had an argument with another lawyer (Dana Elcar). It all seemed about as bold and daring as Peyton Place.

But real boldness was going on on Stage 14, where John Saxon was operating. There were two genuine surgeons from UCLA in the team, plus a UCLA anesthesiologist, a nurse from St. Joseph's and "the best heart-lung machine man in the U.S." running the heart-lung machine.

They worked away, as the camera turned. An emergency. Turn on the heart-lung machine. David Hartman signaled the machine operator. He pulled a lever, turned a switch.

Red fluid—blood!—coursed through the transparent plastic tubes in the Disposable Total Body Perfusion Oxygenator. They watched the track of the heart on the television monitor.

"What happens now?" Saxon muttered, low enough so the microphone couldn't pick it up.

He kept on operating. The nurse handed him another instrument. He sewed another stitch in the sheet.

"Why don't they cut?" said Hartman.

They finally did cut, and the actors relaxed. Bloch, the biotechnologist, said that the best operating rooms he knew about were at the Methodist Hospital in Houston—where Dr. Michael DeBakey works—and the National Institute of Health in Bethesda, Md.

"They have equipment like this," he said, "but not as good. This is the next generation, beyond DeBakey's."

It is valued at somewhere around $400,000, which would make it probably the world's most expensive set—except that it is all on loan.

Saxon seems extremely deft in his movements, and he has a logical explanation for his dexterity: "I think it's because I can eat Chinese food with chopsticks."

Dr. Peter Henning, the genuine UCLA surgeon who was in the on-camera team, said it was a shame Saxon hadn't gone in for medicine. His calmness as well as dexterity impressed the good doctor. He said he would like to see Saxon in his class at UCLA in the fall.

But Saxon, who costars in the series with E. G. Marshall and Hartman, is not about to give up acting for medicine. He is serious about doing a good job, however, and went down to St. Joseph's Hospital to observe a few real operations.

"He was always kind of queasy," says his lovely wife, Mary Ann, "but he wasn't when he was doing research like that."

Elegant Graham-Nut Torte Is Surprisingly Simple

Although tortes are traditionally one of the most complicated dessert delicacies to prepare, this one is really easy. The cake layers are made with a base of packaged graham cracker crumbs with chopped pecans added for extra richness. They are then split and spread with a whipped cream and pineapple mixture and chilled for an hour—or all day if you wish. Serve this elegant torte soon.

Sunny Graham-Nut Torte

1/2 cup sifted flour	1 cup chopped pecans
2 teaspoons baking powder	1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups Sunshine graham cracker crumbs	1 cup milk
1/2 cup butter (1 stick)	1 cup heavy cream
1 cup sugar	1 can crushed pineapple, well drained
3 eggs, separated	Maraschino cherries

Mix sifted flour and baking powder together with crumbs. Cream butter, gradually add sugar and mix well. Add egg yolks and beat until light and fluffy. Stir in nuts and vanilla. Add crumb mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with the dry material; beat just until smooth. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry and fold gently into crumb mixture. Turn into oven (375°) for about 30 minutes, or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool pans on rack. When thoroughly cool, remove layers from pans and peel off paper. Split each layer in two. Whip cream until stiff and stir in drained pineapple. Spread mixture evenly over four layers and stack. Refrigerate at least an hour before serving. Decorate with cherries. Yield: 8 to 10 servings

Smoked Turkey Can Be Hit of Patio Party

Smoked turkey is special barbecue treat.

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Smoked turkey makes an out-of-the-ordinary treat for holiday parties. A covered or uncovered barbecue unit makes cooking outdoors easier for this technique of slow roasting with a small amount of flavorful smoke adding a special flavor. It takes about twice as long as roasting a turkey in an oven but little trouble. If a grill doesn't have a cover, make one with wire coat hangers covered with heavy-duty aluminum foil. Build the fire at one side or end of the grill and adjust barbecue vents so heat and smoke will circulate. Don't forget to add hickory chips for that special flavor and soak these in water before using for maximum effect.

SMOKED TURKEY

- 12- to 15-pound eviscerated turkey
- 2 stalks celery with leaves
- 1 sliced onion
- Few sprigs of parsley
- Sprigs of fresh thyme, dill, rosemary OR 1/2 teaspoon each of dried herbs
- 1/2 cup salad oil and 1 cup cider OR dry white wine with sprinkling of herbs, salt and pepper

Thaw turkey. Sprinkle cavity with salt and fill with celery, onion and herb mixture. Close openings with skewers, truss and brush all over with the flavored salad oil. Place turkey on grill with a foil drip pan underneath to catch drippings for gravy. Place a piece of foil against the side of the bird toward the fire for protection. Cover the grill with its own cover or make a foil cover. Adjust vents in cover so fire will burn slowly. If a foil cover is used, adjust opening in the top.

Let turkey cook very slowly, allowing about 5-6 hours for a 12- to 15-pound bird. It should brown slowly. Lift cover and brush with the herb-cider-salad oil mixture once or twice. Add 3 or 4 damp hickory chips to the fire when first started, about halfway through the cooking and toward the end. Add additional briquets as needed for slow fire—once or twice.

The turkey is done when the second joint moves easily and breast meat is soft to the touch. A meat thermometer inserted in the thickest part of the thigh should read 190 degrees.

AN EARLY LETTER TO SANTA

Dear Helen: Here's a copy of a letter that was sent to me by a very wonderful guy in Vietnam. Maybe you'd like to share it with your readers.—SHERRIE

Dear Santa: I'm sending my letter early, just in case I'm not around at Christmas.

This year I ask only one present. Since there is no snow here in South Vietnam, you can't land, so just wrap it, and I'm sure the postal department will take care of delivery.

Santa, can you imagine the joy on my face when I open your gift and find the one thing I want most in the world—an anti Vietnam-war demonstrator!

At least I'll have something all mine, to share my excitement and experiences with, and Santa, I promise I'll take special care of him.

I'll give him a haircut, but I can't promise to keep him clean, because baths are pretty scarce over here. Besides, dirt seems to be a prerequisite for protestors, so he should feel at home.

I'll share my bunk with him and my incredible food. I'll share the disgusting diseases and the impossible jungle heat with him. I'll even share the heartbreak of seeing my buddies blown apart.

I'll share the misery of trying to identify the mutilated and tortured bodies that the Cong leave behind. I'll let him sit beside me for hours, waist deep in mud- and water-filled foxholes; and, Santa, I'll always be warm with the joy of giving a little Hell to this Christmas present you were so thoughtful to send me.

I promise to give him his own way so long as he lives. Of course that won't be long if he insists on saying the things he says back in the States. Since he likes to protest so much, the next time one of our patrols is attacked by the Cong, I'll even let him run to the front, to tell them how he loves them and wants to help them.

Now You've been so kind, Santa, I'm going to end this letter with a New Year's request. Do you think you could send all my buddies a demonstrator of their very own? Thank you.—VIET-NAM SOLDIER

Dear Helen: I'm writing this letter on the crab outside my house because my mother is screaming again. You can hear it three houses away. She's an alcoholic. By five o'clock she's mean and fighting, or else she has the TV on so loud you can't think. By 10, she's passing out. This happens every day, almost.

I used to bring my friends over but now she's so bad I don't care. They don't know about her. When I make excuses, they think I'm just not friendly.

My father is nice and patient, but if I talk to him about my mother, he says the wrong things to her, and she takes it out on me. When my friends call, she says I'm too busy to talk. I do all the housework, or it wouldn't be done. So far, I get along well at school and people seem to like me, but I can't keep on like this much longer or I'll crack up. She won't even discuss Alcoholics Anonymous. What can I do? — ANOTHER ONE OF THOSE

Dear Another: First, stop trying to hide what I'm sure is obvious to all your friends. Treat your mother's alcoholism as you would any other illness. She'll try to rehabilitation much faster if you indicate you'd rather help than hide her.

Your father may gain insight by visits to the Al Anon Family Group; and if there is an Alateen in your town, by all means attend the meetings. Do all you can to change things, but always remember that sometimes you must walk away. The first sentence of your letter shows you've learned this well—H.
